

This is probably the best law on the books. It guards our privacy, our costs our identities and still allows legitimate business to be conducted with companies with which consumers do business. It's a keeper!